

INSTANTLY KILLED BY B. & O. TRAIN

Cliff Browning a Former
Newark Waiter Meets
Death

WALKING ON A TRACK

Confused by Passing Train He Stepped in Front of a Moving Freight.

By stepping off the track to allow an east-bound B. & O. freight to pass, and stepping directly in front of a fast freight west bound, Cliff Browning, 40 years of age, was instantly killed at Columbia Center at noon Tuesday. His body was terribly mutilated and his head was entirely severed from the body. Browning was formerly a resident of Newark and for twelve years was employed at the Kuster restaurant.

For the past year he has resided with his sister, Mrs. Mary Bucy, at Kirkersville, and early Tuesday morning he started to walk to Summit Station. During the morning he peddled postcards about the streets and then started to walk to Columbia Center to visit his father, William Browning, who resides on a farm there. His father was in Kirkersville and after resting for a short time, Browning started to walk to Kirkersville.

He was going down the track when he heard an east bound B. & O. freight whistle, and stepping off the track to avoid that train, he stepped directly in front of a west bound B. & O. freight. There was no opportunity for the engineer to stop his train, for Browning could not be seen from the engine cab. His body was ground under the heavy car wheels and several cars passed over him before the train could be brought to a stop.

The remains were picked up by the trainmen and taken to Summit Station and the coroner notified. The body will be taken to Kirkersville for burial.

Browning was well known to many Newark people and as stated he worked for twelve years as a waiter at the Kuster restaurant.

OLDEST

Baseball in the World is Found in Kansas—Was Used in Boston in 1858.

Emporia, Kan., Dec. 15.—What is probably the oldest baseball in the world is in possession of Mit Wulhite of this place. The ball, which is covered with gilt, bears the inscription: "Won from the Tri-Mountain club, September 9, 1858, Boston. Score, Portland 47, Tri-Mountain 42."

The ball was given Mr. Wulhite for his curio collection by Josh Waterhouse, who, in the early days was one of the leading fans in Boston. Mr. Wulhite did not know the ball was the oldest in the world until he saw a recent dispatch from Boston, in which President Dwyer, of the Boston National team, claimed to own the oldest ball, one that was used in a game between the Athletics and Excelsiors, of Brooklyn, October 11, 1865. Garry Herrmann of the National Baseball Commission, is said to have in his possession the third oldest sphere. It was used in a game Nov. 8, 1865.

HOOSIER BELLE

Won by "Rube" Marquard by His Fine Playing—Pretty Baseball
Romance.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15.—A baseball romance will culminate Wednesday in the marriage of "Rube" Marquard, famous left-handed pitcher, who was sold to the New York Giants last season for $11,000, and Miss Clara Hazelton, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hazelton, on North Capital avenue.

The "Rube" is said to have won the girl's heart while he was putting the ball over the plate and helping to win the pennant for Indianapolis. His bride-to-be is a baseball fan and she never failed to attend the games he pitched.

After the game one day he chanced to meet her on a street car when he found a seat for her. This meeting paved the way for many others. Marquard returned to Indianapolis about a month ago. After the marriage he will take his bride to Cleveland where they will reside.

Marquard expects to report to Manager McGraw of the Giants, in March.

PREBLE IS ADDED TO DRY LIST

County Votes Out Ten
Saloons With Majority of 1049

GOVERNOR VOTES "DRY"

Findlay People Laying in Wet
Goods—Holmes County to Vote Monday.

Eaton, Dec. 15.—Preble county voted dry yesterday by 1049 majority out of a total vote of 6079, or 906 votes short of the November election. The dry vote was 8564 and the wet vote 2515. The city of Eaton went wet by 42 votes and was the only town in the county to sustain the saloons. Governor Harris' ward, the Fourth, went dry by 3 votes, and the Third ward by 44 votes, while the First and Second wards went wet by 60 and 29 respectively.

Ten saloons are thus put out of business, nine in Eaton and one at West Manchester. The election was quiet, although both sides worked hard in getting out the votes.

LIQUOR GOING RAPIDLY.

Findlay, Dec. 15.—All kinds of liquors have been sold here for the past month at such bargain store prices that it is doubtful if the saloons will have much on hand when they close Wednesday. It is said that people who never have had liquor in their homes have been purchasers.

GOVERNOR HARRIS VOTES DRY.

Eaton, Dec. 15.—Governor Harris voted here yesterday in the Preble county option election. He voted to close the saloons. During the fall campaign he pledged himself so to vote in his speeches.

HOLMES TO VOTE MONDAY.

Millersport, Dec. 15.—The speaking campaign for the Holmes county local option election opened last night all over the county. The election takes place next Monday, Dec. 21. The wets, so far, have made no move in the campaign.

WILL CONTEST ELECTION.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 15.—Notice of contest of the recent prohibition election was filed here yesterday, the contestants giving notice that the election would be attacked because it was conducted under the Ward act, under which the Fredericksburg election is now pending in the Supreme court of the state and because 200 voters who came into the city last January by annexation, were not residents of the city for 12 months as required by the constitution.

ATTORNEYS

OBJECT TO LOCAL ATTORNEYS
ASSISTING PROSECUTION IN HAINS TRIAL.

Defense Will Place T. J. Hains on Stand in Effort to Introduce Sensational Story.

Flushing, Dec. 15.—Alexander Jardine was selected as Juror 7 in the Hains trial this morning. Attorneys show much bitterness through a ruling of Justice Crane, prohibiting local attorneys to assist Prosecutor Darrin. The defense says they will place T. J. Hains on the stand. If the prosecution cross examines him it will give them a chance to introduce the sensational story of Mrs. C. P. Hains' doings. Mrs. Annis says she will take the stand if called.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN SESSION AND LEADERS WHO ARE FRAMING TARIFF

Washington, Dec. 15.—The second session of the Sixtieth congress and the first session of the Sixty-first probably will see the most decided economic legislation that has been put forward since Cleveland's administration. Mr. Taft and the younger statesmen of both parties seem determined upon a drastic revision of the tariff. The President-elect has signified to the ways and means committee of the house that it should use all the means at its command to obtain the most trustworthy information as to the profits on manufactured goods under the present tariff law, resorting, if necessary, to the subpoena and putting the witnesses under oath. He has also asked the committee to appeal to him in any case where the evidence is not satisfactory. Mr. Taft undoubtedly will also take an active part in the senate's work on the new tariff bill. Messrs. Payne and Clark, respectively Republican and Democratic leader in the house, are conducting the tariff inquiry for the two parties in the ways and means committee.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON PANAMA CANAL PROPERTY

Washington, Dec. 15.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to congress a special message dealing with the purchase of the Panama canal site, together with a number of documents bearing on the same. He takes up the charges made recently in connection with the acquisition of the canal property, to which he vigorously replies. The president's message follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: In view of the constant reiteration of the assertion that there was some corrupt action by or on behalf of the United States government in connection with the acquisition of the title of the French company to the Panama canal, and of the repetition of the story that a syndicate of American citizens owned either one or both of the Panama companies, I deem it wise to submit to the congress all the information I have on the subject. These stories were first brought to my attention as published in a paper in Indianapolis, called The News, edited by Mr. Delavan Smith. The stories were scurrilous and libelous in character and false in every essential particular. Mr. Smith shelters himself behind the excuse that he merely accepted the statements which had appeared in a paper published in New York. The World, owned by Mr. Joseph Pulitzer. It is idle to say that the known character of Mr. Pulitzer and his newspaper are such that the statements in that paper will be believed by nobody; unfortunately, thousands of persons are ill-informed in this respect and believe the statements they see in print, even though they appear in a newspaper published by Mr. Pulitzer. A member of the congress has actually introduced a resolution in reference to these charges. I therefore lay all the facts before you:

The story repeated at various times by the World and by its followers in the newspaper press is substantially as follows: That there was corruption by or on behalf of the government of the United States in the transaction by which the Panama canal property was acquired from its French owners; that there were improper dealings of some kind between agents of the government and outside persons, representing or acting for an American syndicate, which had gotten possession of the French company; that among these persons who it was alleged made "huge profits" were Mr. Charles P. Taft, a brother of William H. Taft, then candidate for the presidency, and Mr. Douglas Robinson, my brother-in-law; that Mr. Cromwell, the counsel for the Panama canal company in the negotiations, was in some way implicated with the United States government authorities in these important transactions; that the government has concealed the true facts, and has destroyed or procured or acted to the destruction of certain documents; that Mr. W. H. Taft was secretary of war at the time; that by an agreement between the United States government and the beneficiaries of the deal all traces thereof were "wiped out" by transferring all the archives and "secrets" to the American government just before the holding of the convention last June, at which Mr. Taft was nominated.

Says Stories Baseless. These statements sometimes appeared in the editorial columns in the news columns, sometimes in the shape of contributions from individuals, either unknown or known to be of bad character. They are false in every particular from beginning to end. The wickedness of the slanders is only surpassed by their fatuity. So utterly baseless are the stories that apparently they need not be put in print. (Continued on page 7, 2d col.)

CHILD IS STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Little Columbus School
Girl Seriously Injured

IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Only Ten Years Old But Has Been Chosen as Model by Artists.

Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—Josephine Hamer, the 10-year-old daughter and only child of Detective Ollie Hamer, lies at her home, 716 East Long street, unconscious, hours after she was struck by a westbound Long street car, and only inarticulate groans come from the little cot.

The little girl was returning from the Douglas school, at 4:30 Monday afternoon and was romping along the sidewalk of the north side of the street, at Hamilton avenue and Long street. She was playing with some schoolmates and ran out on the tracks, almost in front of the car.

Detective William O'Rourke and Dr. Tyler were standing at the corner waiting for the car and caught the body, almost as soon as it was struck. She was carried into a nearby store and when her identity was established was taken to her home, a few doors away. Dr. Tyler called to his assistance Dr. Adams and Dr. Will Hamilton, and these in turn summoned Dr. Deuschle. They found an injury at the base of the brain, but were undecided as to the advisability of an operation and it was determined to wait until today. The little one did not regain consciousness all night.

Mr. Hamer, who was for years a wagonman on the police force, was much wrought up. He said:

"I have helped pick up people in all stages of life and death, mangled and bleeding, with members scattered all over a city block, and I have become callous to feeling, but I tell you when it is one of your own, it is different. So far as I have been able to learn, there is no reason to blame the street car men. It seems my girl was just playing with her schoolmates."

The little girl was considered unusually beautiful for a child of her years. She is tall and slender, very fair, with a wealth of golden hair. She has several times been chosen as a model by artists and a life-sized portrait, done in oil by W. I. Downey, is one of the father's proud possessions.

The car was under charge of Conductor C. J. Harris and Motorman E. Fisher. The motorman was a substitute and new to the run.

He was with Sherman at Atlanta.

CONDITION OF KING ALARMING

London, Dec. 15.—Reliable sources say the royal family and physicians are deeply concerned over the condition of King Edward. Reports to his subjects are bright but it is known that he is very ill. Many of the affairs of state are turned over to the Prince of Wales, which is taken to mean that the king realizes his serious condition. His symptoms are abdominal trouble, for which he was operated on in 1902, and reappearing to the king at sixty-seven it is not thought he could stand another operation.

"Dan has not been retired," said M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, owner of "Dan Patch" when informed that the famous horse would race no more according to the latest information. "This is quite a surprise to me," he continued. "It's the first I have heard of it. He is at my farm and in first class condition, and I expect to pace him faster next year than he has ever done before. "SEALSHIPT" SENSE.

This is the title of a very interesting little book about "Sealshtipt" Oysters. It gives much valuable information about cooking and serving the "delicious bivalve" and contains new recipes for preparing.

What will appeal to every oyster lover is the detailed description of how "Sealshtipt" Oysters differ from other kinds—how they are shucked into galvanized steel containers and packed airtight with ice around the containers, but not in contact with the oysters. The "Sealshtipt" shipping carrier system is what accounts for the cleanliness and delicacy of flavor of "Sealshtipt" Oysters.

The price of "Sealshtipt" Oysters is higher than that of tub oysters; but they go so much farther that they actually cost you less—besides having the full, delicious, sea flavor which tub oysters cannot have.

We have "Sealshtipt Sense" books and will gladly give you one. We sell "Sealshtipt" Oysters exclusively—out of the handsome White Porcelain Case bearing the Blue "Sealshtipt" Trade-Mark. J. M. Browne & Sons; C. L. Conrad.

Indianapolis, Dec. 15.—Delavan Smith editor of the Indianapolis News, came in for a bitter arraignment from President Roosevelt in a letter written to William Dudley Foulke and given out for publication on Dec. 7. Comments of the News on the purchase of the Panama Canal route brought in the president's attention by Mr. Foulke, and in his reply Mr. Roosevelt accused Mr. Smith of deliberate falsehood. The letter was one of the most caustic that ever emanated from the White House, the president using the "shorter and uglier word" in his reference to the News' statements.

HEALER

FORCED TO FLEE AFTER DENOUNCING MCKINLEY AS ANARCHIST.

"Divine Healer" Schlatter Escorted to Train Followed by Mob of Angry Citizens.

Macomb, Ill., Dec. 15.—Declaring at a meeting here last night that President McKinley was an anarchist, that he had turned more people loose to prey on society than any man in the world, and that the assassination of McKinley was all right, excepting that it did not happen soon enough, the self-styled "Divine Healer," Schlatter, only escaped personal violence from a mob last night through intervention of the police. The officers escorted Schlatter to a hotel and to the first train out of town, followed by a mob of citizens, threatening to do violence, if he did not leave at once. Schlatter went to Quincy, Illinois.

It isn't always the fault of his temper when a doctor gets out of patients.

Opportunity may make the man, but the man must first make the opportunity.

CLIFF L. STURGEON'S
Leaders in Groceries.

THE RUSH still continues at my store and since I have adopted the CASH or 30 DAY PLAN, ALL CUSTOMERS ARE TREATED JUST ALIKE. No one can sell goods at close prices on long time, so I have "cut that out," preferring to sell on CASH MARGINS and get my money in time to take the benefit of cash discounts. So everybody, regardless of politics, religious, color or whether YOU ARE WET OR DRY, may have the benefit of the LOW PRICES at my store.

I have SUGARED a great many people within the past ten days, but there are still a number of people who have not been able to get in, so I will CONTINUE to sell the best ARBUCKLES CANE SUGAR (not beet) at 5c. in 1 to 25 pound lots, and there are FULL 25 LBS IN EACH SACK, and ONLY COSTS YOU $1.25. Some of my competitors are telling you that my sacks are light weight, and that I am giving you beet instead of Cane Sugar. Now, every sane person knows that ARBUCKLES SUGAR IS MADE OF CANE, and that the lettering on the sacks is RED and that is just what I am selling. They must take you for a fool.

Prices on Sugar may change at any time and without notice, and the change will be for a higher price, so if you are interested come at once. Mr. James E. Brunner, one of my new clerks, will be able to talk to our German friends.

ROOSEVELT'S BLUFF TO SUPPRESS PANAMA CANAL SCANDAL

The threat made by President Roosevelt of instituting legal suits against certain newspapers for statements made by them regarding the Panama Canal scandal have not had the effect of frightening any of them and especially the New York World, for that paper continues to pursue the subject with all the more vigor in view of the Roosevelt threats.

The World shows that Roosevelt departs from the question "Who got the $10,000,000 Panama money?" to interject the minor issue of his own veracity.

Roosevelt continues, says the World, to emit from the White House a flood of billingsgate. He says, through the New York Times, that the men who question his Panama statements are "creatures of the gutter so low that they envy the eminence of the dunghill." No other President of the United States ever publicly used language like this.

What are these statements by Mr. Roosevelt the denial of which by citizens or newspapers makes them "guilty of infamous falsehood" and induces Mr. Roosevelt's threat that "if they can be reached for criminal libel I shall try to have them reached?"

The World has repeatedly printed these statements in the exact language that Mr. Roosevelt used in his published letter to William Dudley Foulkes:

1. The United States did not pay a cent of the $10,000,000 to any American citizen.
2. The government paid this $10,000,000 direct to the French government.
3. The United States government has not the slightest knowledge as to the particular individuals among whom the French government distributed the same.
4. So far as I know there was no syndicate.

As to No. 1, there is not the slightest doubt that the $10,000,000 was paid to J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. This is proved by the records of the treasury department, by the framed checks on exhibition there, by the testimony before the Senate committee on Inter-oceanic canals and by the statement of its chairman, Senator Millard. J. P. Morgan is an American citizen and his firm is the best known syndicate banking-house in this country.

Disease Germs

Cannot harm healthy human bodies. We cannot have healthy bodies unless we have pure blood, —the kind of blood that Hood's Sarsaparilla makes.

As to statement No. 2, that this $10,000,000 was paid "direct to the French government," this is contradicted by the records of the payment to J. P. Morgan & Co., by the statement of Philippe Bunau-Varilla in the New York Herald, by the Senate committee's testimony and by Mr. Cromwell's public statement that the money was divided between the receiver of the old Panama Canal company and Cromwell's new Panama Canal company, less J. P. Morgan's charges.

As to the third statement, that the United States government had not the slightest knowledge as to the distribution, Mr. Cromwell's statement is a complete contradiction, as is also the statement of M. Bunau-Varilla, both of which tell of its payment to certain banking institutions to which had been assigned claims against the old Panama Canal company, to individual creditors and to the stockholders of the Cromwell Panama Canal company, whoever they may be.

As to the fourth statement, that "there was no syndicate," Senator Morgan produced the syndicate agreement, and it is found on page 1146 Panama Canal Hearing, volume II.

The issue of veracity here is clear, definite and cannot be evaded by any outlandish procedure by Mr. Roosevelt. He says that the facts are at the disposal of "any one in Congress or all of Congress." Congress should accept Mr. Roosevelt's challenge to produce all the facts, not only to find out whether Mr. Roosevelt or Senator Millard, M. Bunau-Varilla, Senator Morgan, Mr. Cromwell and the official records are telling the truth, but also to make public the answer to this question, "Who got the money?"

RESTORATIVE TREATMENT FOR NERVOUS MEN.

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who through illness or dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their second childhood long before the three score and ten allotted to life's enjoyment are reached.

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men, it is presumed to be infallible, and the profession generally endorse the ingredients as highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia and the functions of the body. It is published now with the full authority of the originator for the benefit of the ship-wrecked lives that find life not worth the living, and who have been unsuccessfully treated.

First get fifty cents' worth compound fluid balmwort in a one ounce package, and three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene (not cardamon). Mix all in a six or eight ounce bottle, shake well and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, followed by a drink of water. It is said by those who have been treated that astonishing nerve power and vigor follow.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

BROKE INTO ROOM WITH A POKER GAME

Queer Find of the Janitor of the Hibbert & Schaus Building—Outfit Confiscated.

Andy Davidson, the janitor in the Hibbert & Schaus building, came to the conclusion Tuesday morning, that two men he met Monday are the most determined people in the world, and Davidson has good reasons for thinking so. The two men in question, one of middle age and the other rather young, and both well dressed and good looking, came to him Monday afternoon and wanted to rent a vacant room in the building. They were informed that he didn't have anything to do with the renting of the rooms, and that they would have to communicate with Mr. L. P. Schaus in Columbus.

ing about 8 o'clock when he was at work in the building. Then he found that the door to the vacant room had been broken open during the night and that a complete poker outfit had been moved into the room. The outfit consisted of a table, nearly a bushel of checks and some cards.

BUSCH-EVERETT SYNDICATE BUYS MORE OIL LANDS

Have Several Hundred Thousand Dollars Invested Near Famous Hostetter Oil Well.

Shreveport, La., Dec. 14.—Oil lands, the major portion of which lie near Mooringsport, valued at over $225,000, changed hands Saturday. The Busch-Everett company of St. Louis were the buyers and according to reports all lands around Mooringsport have been bought off the market and the time for actual development has arrived.

It is said that the new Hostetter well will be turned loose today and the mystery of Mooringsport will have passed and the public at last know just what is the condition of the Gulf company's well, which has caused the expenditure of over one-half million dollars for oil lands in Caddo parish within two days.

It is persistently rumored that the Hostetter will be opened today and turned into the tanks. With this the public will learn just what the production of the well really is.

The greatest transfer made was between the Busch-Everett company of St. Louis and S. A. Guy of Shreveport. Property valued at over $150,000 passed into the hands of the Busch-Everett company, this land lying near Oil City.

Mr. Guy said that the land had been transferred to the St. Louis company on various deals. Some of it was by cash sales, some on lease for a royalty, while portions of the property are to be developed on a partnership basis. This property, which totals 508 acres, is composed of one 111-acre tract, one of 9 acres, one of 8 acres, one of 30 acres and another of 320 acres.

Another deal consummated by the Busch-Everett company Saturday was its purchase of 80 acres from Mrs. M. L. Sook, consideration $20,000, this land lying near Mooringsport.

J. A. Allen et al, transferred 40 acres to the same company, consideration $19,500.

These sales, which do not include several minor ones reported bring the total real estate purchases already on record, or confirmed, up to $445,500. These deals mean not less than $300,000 in cash having been turned loose in Shreveport within the last two days.

SOFT FOR THE PRINCE.

Pekin, Dec. 15.—The statutes fixing the official status of Prince Chun, the regent, were published today. The prince is given an annual salary of 150,000 taels (about $105,000) and is made commander in chief of both the land and sea forces of the empire.

For an early breakfast, take home Mrs. Austin's pancake flour. Ready in a minute.

POULTRY SHOW

Seventh Annual Exhibition Will Excel Previous Efforts—Committee to Meet Thursday.

The Poultry Association of Licking county has completed nearly all arrangements for a mammoth exhibit of pure bred poultry and pet stock to be held in this city the first week in February, 1909.

This will be the seventh annual exhibit, and will excel all previous ones in every way, according to present indications, as the prizes will be numerous and valuable. The business men have responded very liberally to the solicitors, and much interest is being taken.

The executive committee, in whose hands has been put the placing of all special prizes, will meet Thursday evening, December 17, and all members who have solicited must have their lists in the hands of some member of the executive committee before that time, as the secretary must have the copy for the premium list in the hands of the printer by December 19. The premium lists will be printed and ready for mailing by January 1.

VERY SIMPLE TEST

To Find if the Kidneys are Inactive and How to Cure Them at Home.

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle around the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity, often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clog-gish kidneys.

A simple test of the urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning if there is a reddish, brick-dust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and the sufferer can mix it at home: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bed time.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

It is stated that the powers that be of the Pennsylvania lines are considering the lowering of the age limit for employees of the road. Under present rules employees and officials may retire at 65, but must quit at 70. On the other hand, the rules have been changed so that men may enter the employ of the company if not more than 40 years of age instead of thirty-five as was previously the case. If the new rule forcing retirement at 70 is adopted it will affect a number of the higher officials, while a number of employees of the company in this city will be affected.

Information was received at the office of Superintendent J. F. Irwin of the B. & O., to the effect that while passenger train No. 15 was passing Neri's Sliding, just west of Bellaire, some one fired a shot that brought its way through a coach window and struck the sill of the opposite window. Fortunately no one was sitting on either seat, and no one was hurt. The matter has been placed in the hands of the railroad detectives and the matter will be thoroughly investigated, and if the guilty party is discovered he will be punished to the full extent of the law.

Information was received at the office of Supt. J. F. Irwin of the B. & O. railroad, of a terrible accident that occurred on the C. O. division of that road at Belmont, Monday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. Henry Criss, a well known farmer in that vicinity, who was aged 64 years, in attempting to drive across the railroad tracks, was struck by engine 2681, the extra helper, and instantly killed. The horse was killed also and the wagon demolished.

B. & O. Road Department Carver Wm. Millbaugh, is at the B. & O. freight house today for the purpose of identifying conductors and brakemen who call for their checks.

George Floyd, caller for the B. & O. machinery department, is at the B. & O. freight house today identifying engineers and firemen who call for their pay checks.

W. & O. engine 982 is out of the shop after having received a general overhauling. It is being broke in on the C. & N. division between Newark and Central City.

Supt. J. F. Moore of the Ohio Electric lines, with headquarters in Columbus, was in the city Tuesday and was seen by an Advocate reporter. Mr. Moore was in Springfield a day or two ago conferring with Assistant Superintendent Williams and making arrangements about the quarters for General Manager W. A. Gibbs and the others who are to go to that city soon. Mr. Moore said that he could not tell whether the change would affect him or not.

F. J. J. Sloat, division superintendent of the Ohio Electric Railway company, in charge of the western and southern divisions, with headquarters in Dayton, has resigned, effective Jan. 1, and will take charge of mining interests in Nevada. The office will be abolished and W. A. Gibbs, who now has charge of the eastern and northern divisions, will take over the duties. It is this consolidation that accounts for the removal of the office of Mr. Gibbs from Columbus to Springfield the first of the year.

TWENTY-FOUR INITIATED INTO WOODCRAFT

Enjoyable Social Session Held by Cedar Camp and Umbrella Presented to Deputy Sherburne.

For some time past the members of Cedar Camp No. 4727, Modern Woodmen of America, have been arranging for a big meeting to be held at which a large class of candidates would be initiated in the presence of some of the head officers of the Woodmen of the State, as well as a number of the District Deputies. The time for holding the meeting was set for Monday night, December 14, and when the camp opened it found over 250 Woodmen present, the largest attendance that has been had for some time. A class of twenty-four candidates was on hand and all were adopted and are now full fledged Woodmen. The work was put on by Cedar Camp's celebrated team, and was performed in a manner that elicited the highest praise from the numerous visitors who were present. Twelve candidates were also ballotted on. Head auditor, A. B. Thomas of Columbus, chairman of the board of auditors of the Modern Woodmen, and Don C. Hughes of Findlay, head physician of Ohio, graced the occasion with their presence. The following district deputies were also present: Col. C. X. Zimmerman of Cleveland, F. O. Howlett of Cincinnati, C. G. Zigler of Toledo, C. E. Baker of Steubenville, W. G. Womack of Chillicothe, J. E. T. Nix of Zenia, Fred Bielman of Shelby, W. H. Clevenger of Columbus, and W. S. Brandriff of Newark.

At the conclusion of the work Col. Zimmerman of Cleveland presented State Deputy Ned C. Sherburne with a handsome silk umbrella, with the compliments of the district deputies under him. Mr. Sherburne, although taken by surprise, managed to express his appreciation of the good will in a few fitting remarks, after which short speeches were delivered by the visiting deputies. During the social session on oyster sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served. It was one of the most profitable and enjoyable meetings ever held by the members of Cedar camp.

Often One Gets To Thinking

It is a hard matter to buy something for a man or boy for a Christmas present—it shouldn't be—if you will come to a store like ours—where we sell to men, young men and boys. Our store is a store for men—both big and little. What would be nicer than one of our fine Suits or Overcoats, a nobby Hat in one of the new shapes and shades or some of the smaller articles which a man or boy never get too many of—like a Necktie, fancy pair of Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, initial or plain, fancy Hosiery, Sweaters, Gloves, Shirts, Jewelry, Underwear, Umbrellas, Fancy Waistcoats and many other useful and acceptable things. The place to buy things for a man or boy is where he buys them himself.

PRESBYTERIANS AT JERSEY WILL HAVE XMAS TREE

Splendid Lecture by Dr. Griffiths Who Was Captured by Indians—High School Debate.

The Sunday school will have a Christmas tree at the Presbyterian church on Christmas eve. A program will be rendered. Every one is invited.

Miss Edna Weaver of Westerville is visiting Mrs. Clyde Osborne.

The young people enjoyed the cold snap by having several skating parties last week.

Dr. Joseph K. Griffiths gave on Saturday evening his lecture "Things That I Saw and Did While a Savage." Dr. Griffiths was captured when a baby by the Indians and was raised by them. His Indian name is "Tahani." The lecture was well attended. He preached an excellent sermon Sunday morning.

The next number on the lecture course will be Friday, Dec. 18. Alexander R. Tarr will lecture on "The Tragedy and Comedy of Life."

The high school debate with Etna Friday evening was a failure so far as attendance was concerned. But those present enjoyed a very instructive debate. The question discussed was: "Resolved, that the government improvement of roads would be more beneficial to the people of the United States than rural delivery of mail." The Etna high school was represented by Messrs. Kirts and Manger. The Jersey school's were represented by Wendell Edgerley and Helen Berger. As Etna was the visiting team they had the choice of sides and chose the affirmative. Their speakers presented some good argument, but didn't seem to be thoroughly prepared, while both of the local speakers made spicy, logical speeches. The decision of the judges was two for the affirmative and one for the negative. The judges were Supt. C. L. Riney of Kirtsville, Mr. Bert Bollinger of Jersey, and Mrs. Charles Case of Alexandria.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS NEED $35,000

Ex-Governor Campbell and Governor-elect Harmon Will Each Get $13 From State.

If the law enacted at the last legislature to pay to the "squirrel hunters" $1 to every man of this organization who served in Civil war time is to be carried out, the next legislature will have to appropriate $4,000 to pay some 3,000 more hunters that took up arms at the time of the great rebellion.

When the legislature conceived the idea of allowing the squirrel hunters $1 or one month's government pay, it was thought that an appropriation of $2,500 would be sufficient to meet all claims and that much money was authorized for the purpose, but subsequent developments proved that would not begin to go around. It is estimated now that at least $75,000 will be necessary to liquidate all claims. The appropriation of last winter was only large enough to pay $100,000, and there are now 2,000 more hunters on the list. The bill with new claims coming in.

As it would not be fair to pay some and ignore others it will be up to the legislature to appropriate money at each session until all survivors of the war have received their share. Governor-elect Harmon and ex-Governor Campbell will both receive this year's share of $13 each for both years of service. The bill was introduced in the house by a member of the grand old party of the great state of Ohio Governor Campbell informed a reported that when he went forth to serve the state he was armed with a gun of the vintage of 1812, but luckily it was not necessary to discharge the weapon, or maybe the name of Governor Campbell wouldn't appear on the list of Ohio's governors.

WHAT THE KIDNEY'S DO.

Their Cleansing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

G. W. Harter, living at Hebron, O., says: "For several years I suffered from disordered kidneys but was unable to obtain the slightest relief from the numerous remedies I used. I finally heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured a box at Crayton's drug store and received prompt relief. I am glad to endorse such an efficient kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

REMEMBER PUBLIC LIBRARY

To the People of Newark:

Although your public library has only been open for three or four months, it has certainly proved itself worthy of your confidence and support. Of 1,500 or more volumes which have been purchased or donated about 1200 at this writing are out; so you can easily see that we need more books to supply the increasing calls and demands that are made on us from day to day. We have a goodly number of periodicals on our table but more would be heartily welcomed—particularly your subscriptions for the Scientific American, the World of Today, and the World's Work. Wherefore we hope that in making up your "Christmas Gifts" you will generously remember the wants of the Library which has been established in your midst, and make it the object of your largest and most liberal generosity. In Place Of Paul.

By EFES W. SARGENT.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"That revolver again?" asked Musgrave, with a laugh that did not cover the irritation that it was intended to conceal. "It seems to me, Jeanne, that you are always fooling with that murderous looking thing."

"Not always," was the grave response. "For whole weeks it lies in the top drawer, Frank, but once a month I take it out and clean it that it may always be ready and that I may not forget, as though I ever could," she added wildly.

Musgrave shuddered. He disliked the sight of weapons, and there was something sinister in the care with which the girl kept the revolver always in good condition.

It was no pearl handled toy such as a woman might be supposed to carry, but a blue barreled .45 that would "stop" a man with a single shot, the sort of weapon that was meant for men.

It struck a jarring note in the femininity of Jeanne Barthou's personality. It was absurd and yet repelling that the dainty little artist should devote so much time to the care of the black muzzled threat. All about were half finished sketches, bits of French seascapes, ideal heads and fashion drawings in odd confusion, with a handsome toilet over a dressmaker's form in one corner.

Jeanne herself was essentially feminine, a tiny mite of a woman with a coronet of golden hair surmounting a fragile face. She was scarcely five feet tall, and the gun was oddly out of proportion.

Musgrave sank into a chair from which he swept the fashion magazines to the floor and watched the girl with gloomy face.

"Perhaps it will be as well to tell you my secret, Frank," she said at length when the weapon had been oiled and reassembled. "Then you will understand my care and also why I cannot promise to marry you, dear. It is best that you should understand."

"I have no wish to pry into your secrets," he demurred. "They cannot be very important—except your reason for not wanting to marry me. You admit that you are unmarried and free and that you love me. Those are the essentials."

"Unmarried—yes," the girl breathed tensely, "but free—no. It is that I would tell you, dear, so sit that I may not see the horror in your face, and do not speak until I have finished. Sit so," she added as she placed a chair so that it stood directly before her own.

"It is the gun with which some day I am to kill a man," she began, plunging into the middle of her story. "Do not stir until I say that you may. I cannot talk if you interrupt. It is hard enough to tell even so."

"Then don't tell," urged the man. "You never will kill a man. You are afraid even of the dark."

"Of the dark, yes," she admitted softly, "but when the moment of revenge comes I shall shoot to kill, with never a thought of what will follow. They may not kill me, but I will spend years in prison, and all because I have done the justice that men would not do. That is why I may not marry."

"I had a brother once. He was all that I had. Not even cousins had I, and when my Paul went to your Klondike I grieved and grieved, even though he had promised that in one year he would return with millions of francs and I should enter the atelier of the great artist with whom I would study and become famous."

"For a year I had his letters. Then none came. I said that mails were not regular in that far off land, and so I waited almost another year. Then with the little money that I had I sought him, for I knew that evil must have befallen."

"I journeyed across this great land to the frozen north, and there I learned the worst. Paul was dead—killed by his friend, they said—his friend who could shoot him down for the little gold that he had."

"They said it was all an accident. Bah! Men who handle guns do not have accidents. Is it reasonable to tell that one is killed by another by accident? This man said that he was cleaning his revolver and that it went off by itself. They had let him go. He had fled the scene. He came to New York, they said, and he was a lawyer."

"There was a little photograph of him. That I brought with me. Of course he would shave his beard, but I have made other sketches—you have seen them—with the face clean shaven and with the mustache. One mark he had—a great scar across the cheek. It is his trait of Cain. By it I shall know him."

"Now I study art no more. I draw fashions because it pays, and when I am idle I haunt the courts. I look for a lawyer with a great scar, and when I find him this gun shall speak."

Musgrave had risen from the chair, and as she spoke she raised the revolver and pointed it at an imaginary foe. His turning disconcerted her, the gun wavered, there was a report, and the bullet scared Musgrave's arm. With a cry of horror, the girl sprang to his side.

"I have killed you!" she gasped.

"You, my dearest friend, I have shot. It was not for you that the revolver was meant. You were right. I was wrong to keep it. Oh, my dear!"

She sank sobbing beside him to deavoring to roll up the sleeve and staunch the blood that now trickled in a tiny stream down his arm. Musgrave pushed her from him.

"It was right!" he cried hoarsely. "The shot hit the man for whom it was intended, but you did not aim at the heart. Was your brother Paul Desplaines?"

"That was my mother's name," she explained. "Paul took it so that when he should return Desplaines, the miner, and Barthou, the millionaire, would not be the same. It was childish, but he was but a boy."

"It was common to use other names," said Musgrave harshly. "I was Jack Joyce up there."

"You!" The girl recoiled and half turned to where the revolver lay upon the floor. The studio building was almost deserted, and the sound of the report had brought no inquiry.

"I am the man who shot your brother," continued Musgrave. "It was an accident. I was cleaning my gun while Paul lay in his bunk. I did not see that one cartridge was left in the chamber. I snapped the hammer to see if it was limbered up and—it happened."

Overcome by the horror of the recollection, Musgrave buried his face in his arms for a moment while the girl stood silently by. Her face was ghastly white, the lines drawn and tense, and in the blue eyes was horror unspeakable.

"It was an accident," went on Musgrave after a moment. "The boys understood and let me go. I left the country and came back to New York. I had never liked the law. To escape that profession I went to Alaska. I could draw rather well, and I came back at a time when the northern novels were first coming out and men who could draw Alaskan scenes were in demand."

"I made a success and spent my money looking for Jeanne Desplaines. There is money in the bank that I have kept until I could find her, the money that Paul had helped me earn. I never dreamed that you were she, you are so unlike Paul."

"That picture you have with the scar is misleading. The scar is the result of a photographic error, a defect in the glass. I had some made because the effect was so odd. That is why you did not know me. You looked for the scar. You will not believe that it was an accident. You just said so. Shoot if you will. Take a life for the life I robbed you of."

He rose unsteadily to his feet, stooped and raised the revolver from the floor, handing it to the silent girl.

"Perhaps it would be better if I did it myself," he said bitterly as she made no move to take the proffered weapon. "It will relieve you of all consequences. I will welcome death since now I know that my love is hopeless. I will go to my own studio."

Unsteadily he staggered toward the door. The girl watched until his hand groped for the knob, then, with a sudden revulsion of feeling, she rushed toward him.

"You shall not!" "You shall not!" she cried passionately. "It was a mistake, Frank. I know now, for did I not shoot you by accident? It was only the good God who turned the bullet aside because he had sent you to make me happy. It was a lesson to me, who had disputed the wisdom of God. It was an accident, dearest, and now that I know that the thought of vengeance and—prison no longer stand between—"

"You will marry me after what I have told you?" he cried in wonder.

"God is good," she said reverently. "He has taken my brother from me, but he has sent you—in place of Paul," and she suffered him to draw her within the circle of his arms.

Change of Climate Helped.

Some time ago the Virginia state line was altered so as to include a patch of territory heretofore belonging to North Carolina.

A section of the land thus transferred included a tumble-down cabin where dwelt an aged negro woman.

An inquisitive neighbor, calling to see how the negro enjoyed the idea of becoming a Virginian in her old age, began the conversation by asking:

"How is the rheumatism, auntie?"

"Bettah, praise de Lawd!" was the reply.

"And the neuralgia?"

"All gone. Clean depa'ted!"

"And the stiff knee?"

"Frisky as a li' colt!"

"Why, auntie, how on earth do you happen to be so much better all of a sudden?"

"Well, miss," replied the auntie proudly. "All always done heah de climate of de North Carolina. Ah reckon dat sho' counts fo' ma change fo' de bettah."—Detroit Free Press.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

merely material collected for campaign purposes, and in part stories originally concocted with a view of possible blackmail.

The inventor of the story about Mr. Charles P. Taft, for instance, evidently supposed that at some period of the Panama purchase Mr. W. H. Taft was secretary of war, whereas in reality Mr. W. H. Taft never became secretary of war until long after the whole transaction in question had been closed.

The inventor of the story about Mr. Douglas Robinson had not taken the trouble to find out the fact that Mr. Robinson had not had the slightest connection, directly or indirectly, of any kind or sort with any phase of the Panama transaction from beginning to end. The men who attacked Mr. Root in the matter had not taken the trouble to read the public documents which would have informed them that Mr. Root had nothing to do with the purchase, which was entirely arranged through the department of justice, under the then Attorney General Mr. Knox. Now, those stories as a matter of fact need no investigation whatever. No shadow of proof has been or can be produced in behalf of any of them. They consist simply of a string of infamous lies. In form they are in part libels upon individuals, upon Mr. Taft and Mr. Robinson, for instance. But they are in fact wholly and in form partly a libel upon the United States government. I do not believe we should concern ourselves with the particular individuals who wrote the lying and libelous editorials, articles from correspondents or articles in the news columns. The real offender is Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, editor and proprietor of the World. While the criminal offense of which Mr. Pulitzer has been guilty is in form a libel upon individuals, the great injury done is in blackening the good name of the American people. It should not be left to a private citizen to sue Mr. Pulitzer for libel. He should be prosecuted for libel by the governmental authorities. In point of encouragement of iniquity, in point of infamy of wrong-doing, there is nothing to choose between a public servant who betrays his trust, a public servant who is guilty of blackmail, or theft, or financial dishonesty of any kind, and a man guilty as Mr. Joseph Pulitzer has been guilty in this instance. It is therefore a high national duty to bring to justice this villifier of the American people, this man who wantonly and wickedly, without one shadow of justification, seeks to blacken the character of reputable private citizens, and to convict the government of his own country in the eyes of the civilized world of wrong-doing of the basest and foulest kind, when he has not one shadow of justification of any sort or description for the charge he has made.

Legal Action Threatened.

The attorney general has under consideration the form in which the proceedings against Mr. Pulitzer shall be brought. Meanwhile, I submit to you all the accompanying papers, so that you may have before you complete information on the subject. I call your attention to my communications in my messages to the congress of Jan. 20, 1902; March 11, 1903; Dec. 1, 1903; Jan. 4, 1904, and Dec. 17, 1906, in which I set forth at length the history of various phases of the whole transaction. I recall your attention to the report and opinion of the attorney general rendered to me, dated Oct. 25, 1902, with the accompanying documents and exhibits. I call your attention to the correspondence of the officers and agents of the Panama Canal company with the president and other officers of the United States printed in Senate Document No. 34, Dec. 10, 1902. Also to the copy of the official proceedings of the New Panama Canal company at Paris on the 30th of December, 1903, together with a report of the council of administration of that company, printed in Senate Document No. 133, Jan. 28, 1904, and to the copy of the general conveyance by the new Panama Canal company to the United States; also copies of certain telegrams from the president of the company making an offer of sale, and Attorney General Knox's cablegram in response, in Senate Document No. 285, March 23, 1906.

I call your attention furthermore to the exhaustive testimony recorded in the public document (Senate Document No. 401, Fifty-ninth Congress, Second Session), which contains the searching investigation into the whole transaction made by the congress for its information and fully considered by the congress before it took action.

In the act approved June 28, 1902, "To Provide For the Construction of a Canal Connecting the Waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans," the congress provided as follows:

"That the president of the United States is hereby authorized to acquire for and on behalf of the United States, at a cost not exceeding $40,000,000, the rights, privileges, franchises, concessions, grants of land, right of way, unfinished work, plants and other property, real, personal and mixed, of every name and nature, owned by the new Panama Canal company of France, on the isthmus of Panama, and all its maps, plans, drawings, records, on the isthmus of Panama and in Paris, including all the capital stock, not less, however, than 68,563 shares of the Panama Railroad company, owned by or held for the use and aid of the canal company, provided a satisfactory title to all said property can be obtained."

Shareholders of No Concern.

It thereupon became the duty of the president in execution of this statute to purchase the property specified from the New Panama Canal company of France, provided he could obtain a satisfactory title. The department of justice was instructed to examine the title and after such an examination Attorney General Knox reported that a satisfactory title could be obtained. Payment of the purchase price was thereupon made to the New Panama Canal company, in accordance with the act of the congress, and the property was conveyed by that company to the United States. It was no concern of the president, or any officer of the executive department, to inquire as to what the New Panama Canal company did with the money which it received. As a matter of fact the New Panama Canal company did distribute the money between its shareholders and the shareholders of the preceding Panama Canal company, in accordance with the decree of a French court, and the records of the French courts show who were the shareholders, who received the money; but that is no concern of ours.

I call your attention to the accompanying statement as to the attempt to form an American company, in 1899, for the purpose of taking over the property of the French company. This attempt proved abortive. There was no concealment in its effort to put through this plan; its complete failure and abandonment being known to everyone. The important points set forth in the accompanying papers, and in the papers to which I have referred you, are as follows:

The investigation of the history, physical condition and existing value of the enterprise by the congress, resulting in the enactment of the law of 1902, authorizing the president to acquire the property for the sum of $40,000,000 upon securing a satisfactory title and thereupon to undertake the work of construction; the failure of the Americanization of the enterprise in 1899, the transmission by me to the congress from time to time of full information and advice as to the relations of this government to transit across the isthmus and under the treaties as to the negotiations and final acquisition of the title, and later as to the progress and condition of the work of construction; the previous authorization of the sale to the United States by the stockholders of the new company and their subsequent ratifications; the examination and approval of the title by Mr. Knox; the arrangements for payment through J. P. Morgan & Company, as the fiscal agents of this government, and the payment accordingly at the bank of France upon proper official receipts to the liquidators acting under the decree of the French court, the French governmental body having jurisdiction in the matter; and, finally, the subsequent apportionment and distribution of the fund to the creditors and stockholders of the two companies under that decree.

The Panama Canal transaction was actually carried through not by either the then secretary of state, Mr. John Hay, or the then secretary of war, Mr. Elihu Root, both of whom however were cognizant of all the essential features; but by the attorney general, Mr. P. C. Knox, at present senator from Pennsylvania. I directed or approved every action and am responsible for all that was done in carrying out the will of the congress; and the provisions of the law enacted by congress, after exhaustive examination and discussion, were scrupulously complied with by the executive.

Cromwell's Part.

While the transaction was pending I saw Mr. Cromwell but two or three times, and my communications with him were limited to the exchange of purely formal courtesies. Secretary Hay occasionally saw him, in the same manner; I doubt whether Mr. Root held any conversation with him. The attorney general saw him frequently, as he was counsel for the Panama company. Their communications were official as representing the two sides. I enclose copies of my correspondence with Mr. William Dudley Foulke, who first brought these scandalous stories to my attention, and with Senator Knox and Mr. Cromwell, to whom I wrote, in response to the request of a gentleman who wished to know about the stockholders in the Panama Canal company.

The title to the Panama Canal properties was vested in the new Panama Canal company of France, which was the legal owner thereof, and the old or so-called De-Lesseps company had a large equity therein.

The title was not in a New Jersey company, nor in any other American company, nor did this have any dealings with any American company throughout the affair. The exact legal status, to the most minute detail, appears in the exhaustive opinion of Attorney General Knox approving the title to be given to the United States, which clearly establishes that the only party dealt with was the New Panama Canal company of France, with the concurrence of the liquidator of the old company, and not any American corporation or syndicate.

Title Was Clear.

The action of the United States government was, of course, wholly influenced by and had nothing whatever to do with any question as to who were, or who had been, the security holders of either the new or the old company. Who such security holders were was not our affair. It, as a matter of fact, the canal company, either or both, had been owned by American citizens or by citizens of any other nationality. It would not have altered in the slightest degree the action taken by this government. Our concern was to get the canal property which was owned by the French company, and to see that the title was clear. Our transactions were carried on openly, and were published in detail, and we dealt solely (so far as the interests of the other Panama company were concerned) with the liquidator appointed by the proper French government body, the civil tribunal of the Seine, and in accordance with the decree of this same tribunal, with the New Panama Canal company, which also went into liquidation upon the sale to the United States.

All our transactions were carried on openly and were published in detail. The distribution of our payment of $40,000,000 follows the award of the arbitrator chosen by the new company and the liquidator, authorized by the decree of this same civil tribunal of the Seine, and providing for a dissemination of the proportionate division between the new and old companies. We paid the money through the New York banking house of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Company, acting as fiscal agents of this government, into the Bank of France in Paris. The receipts and accounts of our treasury department show the payment of the money into the Bank of France and account for the money being paid over to the liquidator appointed by the civil tribunal of the Seine and to the New Panama Canal company of France, the proportion of the $40,000,000 being 128,600,000 francs to the liquidator of the old company and 77,400,000 francs to the New Panama Canal company of France in liquidation. In these payments we followed to the letter the decree of the governmental tribunal of France, which had the authority to make such a decree, the civil tribunal of the Seine. We had neither desire nor authority to go behind this decree of this proper governmental body, as all the conflicting rights of the security holders of both companies had been settled by the decree of said court by ratifications of arbitration which resulted in that division.

Distribution of the Money.

I wish to make as clear as possible and as emphatic as possible the statement that we did not have anything to do with the distribution of a dollar of the $40,000,000 we paid as regards any stockholder or bondholder of the French companies, save that we followed out the award of the arbitrators appointed in accordance with the decree of the French court which had dealt with the subject in awarding a proportion to the old company and a certain proportion to the new company. Any question concerning the stockholders, bondholders or other beneficiaries of the proceeds of sale was purely a question for the civil tribunal of the Seine, the French governmental body, with which this nation had nothing whatever to do. Under these circumstances there was not the slightest need for Mr. Cromwell to give any information on the subject of the company for which he had been counsel. This government has no concern with Mr. Cromwell's relation to these companies, or either of them, or with the amount of his professional compensation. It was not the affair of this government to inquire who were the security holders of the companies. Nevertheless, of his own accord, he has submitted to me, together with a copy of his statement published on the 11th instant, and which I transmit herewith, a full list of the stockholders of the New Panama canal company of France on Jan. 15, 1900 (numbering over 6,000), and a list of all stockholders who were present at a special meeting of the company held Feb. 28, 1902, immediately after the cable offer of the company was made to the United States (Jan. 9-11, 1902), to accept the appraisal of $40,000,000 made by the isthmian canal commission, and to sell for said sum the Panama canal, concessions and other property, and the shares of the Panama Railroad company. He has also furnished me a certified copy of the final report of the liquidator of the old company, which was filed on June 25th last, and formally approved by the civil tribunal of the Seine, together with a summary account prepared and signed by said liquidator as late as the 24th ultimo.

I also transmit a translation of the two resolutions with the vote upon them, adopted at a meeting of the stockholders of the new company held on April 23, 1904, for the purpose of finally ratifying the sale. All these documents I herewith transmit as a part of this message.

No Payments On Old Stock.

It appears from them that the creditors of the old company number 226,296 parties who have received dividends out of the funds in the hands of the liquidator, who in his letter states that in this present month of December the second and last distribution to the creditors will be begun, and that the average dividend heretofore paid to each individual was 782 francs, or $156. No payment whatever was or will be made upon the stock of the old company, as it was worthless from the day De-Lesseps failed and this cuts out from consideration all misleading statements regarding a possible purchase by anybody of the stock of the Old Panama Canal company. It has not received and will not receive a penny. Even upon the bonded indebtedness, the dividend, I am thus informed, will amount in the aggregate to only about ten per centum. It likewise appears that this distribution by the liquidator of the Old company has been openly conducted at his office in Paris, No. 50 Rue Etienne Marcel, where all the receipts accounts and records of his payments are on file.

The New Panama Canal company of France is in liquidation, as the accompanying papers set forth. This liquidated company received as its proportion of the $40,000,000 the sum of 77,000,000 francs and this was distributed by the liquidation in three payments through four leading banks of Paris, covering a period of the past four years and to shareholders numbering about 6,000. Every step of the transaction was not only taken publicly but was contemporaneously therewith advertised in the legal and financial papers of France, and the banks making the payments took proper receipts from all the parties to whom payments were made, as is customary in such cases.

The capital of the New Panama Canal company of France was 65,000,000 francs and the distribution thus made amounted to about 130 francs on each share of 100 francs. No dividends were paid during the 10 years of the company's existence. It therefore resulted that the shareholders only recovered their original investment with annual interest of about three per cent.

The accounts and records of this liquidation, which was concluded in June last are on deposit with the Credit Lyonnais of Paris as a proper custodian of the same, appointed upon such liquidation. Recently a request was made by a private individual to inspect the records of these payments, but answer was made by custodians that they saw no proper reason for granting such request by a stranger, and, inasmuch as there is not the slightest ground for suspicion of any bad faith in the transaction it hardly seems worth while to make the requests; but if the congress desires, I have no doubt that on the request of our ambassador in Paris, the lists of individuals will be shown him.

Says Nothing to Probe.

As a matter of fact there is nothing whatever in which this government is interested to investigate about this transaction. So far as this government is concerned, every step of the slightest importance has been made public by its executive, and every step taken in France has there been made public by the proper officials. The congress took the action it did take after the most minute and exhaustive examination and discussion, and the executive carried out the direction of the congress to the letter. Every act of this government, every act for which this government had the slightest responsibility, was in pursuance of the act of the congress here, and following out the decree of the civil tribunal of the Seine in France. Furthermore, through the entirely voluntary act of Mr. Cromwell, I am now able to present to you full information as to these actions in France, with which this government did not have any concern, and which are set forth in the accompanying papers.

It may be well to recall that the New Panama Canal company of France did not itself propose to fix the figure, $40,000,000, as the valuation of the canal and railroad properties. That sum was first fixed by our isthmian canal commission in its reports to the congress after two years of investigation and personal inspection of all the properties and work already done, whereby the properties and the work done were in detail appraised at that sum as their value to the United States. The French company steadily refused for over two years to make any offer whatever in answer to the many written requests of the isthmian canal commission, and when its president did approach the question of price it was on the basis of $109,000,000. Later, under conditions not necessary now to rehearse, the company by cable accepted the appraisal of $40,000,000 made by our commission.

This government therefore acquired all the properties and concessions both of canal and railroad, at its own valuation and price, the congress approving the price and authorizing the expenditure of the money after the most exhaustive examination and discussion.

I transmit herewith lists and documents in the possession of the department of state, the department of justice and the department of war, so that if the congress sees fit it may direct that they be printed. They are and always have been open to the examination of any member of the congress. There is no object in printing them, but there is also no objection to printing them, save that it is a useless expense.

I also transmit a list of the documents furnished by Mr. Cromwell. THEODORE ROOSEVELT. The White House, Dec. 15, 1908.

TRIBUTE TO COGHLAN.

The American people may well lament the death of Rear Admiral Joseph Bullock Coghlan. As a naval commander he ranked among the ablest, as a character he was among the most interesting picturesque, as a man he was faithful and true. To Kentuckians, in particular, his death has a peculiar appeal, for he was himself a native Kentuckian, although he spent little of his life in this state.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PLYMOUTH-BETHEL PEOPLE'S PULPIT BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

"Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees."—Matt. 16:6.
Throughout the Scriptures leaven is the symbol and synonym of impurity, unrighteousness, sin. Under the Law, on special holidays and especially at the Passover season, leaven was strictly prohibited to the Israelites. To this day amongst the orthodox Jews the custom remains of making search throughout the house for any kind of leaven or ferment. This included, not only yeast, used then as now for the raising of bread, but it included also ferment or decomposition, putrefaction, decay. This house cleaning was preparatory to the days of "unleavened bread," which symbolized peace with God in righteousness and truth.

Although the word Pharisee has come to be a synonym of hypocrisy, the word originally was used in a very honorable sense, as signifying the consecrated or holy-to-God people, separate and apart from the world and sin. Thus the Apostle Paul was not ashamed that in his honorable life as a Jew, he was a Pharisee of the Pharisees—one of the most strict and pious of the people of God. However, there is a wide difference between a true holiness of heart and an outward profession. It is not surprising that this perversion of sentiment manifested itself amongst the Jews, as amongst all denominations of Christendom since. We will all agree that there are pious people in every denomination and that amongst them are hypocrites, even as there are amongst the wheat.

The Sadducees were the free thinkers of that time, who denied anything that they could not discern with their five senses and disbelieved in a future existence, either by resurrection or otherwise, etc.

Our Lord's warning to the disciples to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees evidently meant for them to beware of the doctrine and practices of both these opposing classes, neither being right, but wrong both doctrinally and in practice—not only those who profess specially no faith, but also those who profess both faith and holiness. They were to beware of the corrupt doctrines and practices held and disseminated by those who called themselves God's holy people. The disciples at first did not discern his meaning, but supposed that he was criticizing them for not having made a proper provision for the needs of the company, having forgotten to renew the supply of bread; but Jesus corrected them and upbraided them for their lack of faith, and reminded them of the miraculous feeding of five thousand, and subsequently of four thousand hungry people. He said, "How is it that you do not understand that I speak not to you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees?" Then understood they how that he bade them beware not of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees.

The doctrinal leaven of the Pharisees was their false teachings and false practices, including hypocrites, as our Lord at another time explained, they professing to be very good and scrupulously careful of the smallest details of the Mosaic law. They paid into the Lord's treasury and service tithes (cents) of all their income—going to the particular also of including in these the very small seeds, of which little was necessary and the value of small consequence. Without reproving their particularity along these lines our Lord pointed out that there was hypocrisy in this, because they were quite careless respecting weightier matters of the Law—their dealings with their neighbors, etc. Our Lord charged them with performing a considerable part of their religious services from pride of heart, rather than from a true spirit of reverence and worship of God.

He pointed out how they did their alms to be seen of men, prayed in public places, displayed their faces when they fasted, so as to draw attention to themselves as specially holy people, and wore garments in a manner to give similar impression. Our Lord pointed out that they were forgetting, nevertheless, the weightier matters of the Divine Law—to do justice to their fellow creatures. He pointed out that there was in many of their good professions a disposition to take technical advantage of the widows and fatherless, and to devour their patrimony, to cheat them out of it, along technical and legal lines, if possible. Their fault was a self-righteous spirit. They professed the Divine Law with great severity, and charged people right and left with violating it—while they knew that no man living could perfectly keep the Divine Law.

In our day Phariseism seems not to be greatly in evidence—far less so than a century or two ago. In those days professed followers of Jesus painted Divine Law in vivid colors and declared that few kept it and that they were the elect, while all the remainder were enemies for eternal torment. Not only so, but in their self-righteousness they often assured to judge one another, to condemn one another, and to mete out to each other penalties, thumb-screw, imprisonment, whipping, and even stoning at the stake. All of this was done along the lines of pretended holiness, sanctity, piety to God, etc. We have, indeed, some of this class of people still with us and perhaps more who have their spirit than we may be aware of, for our day has not witnessed too great an advance in holiness. But the imprisonment and stripes and tortures and burnings of today are more refined. The Pharisee of today goes to the law, backbiting, flattery and "smoothings" of a different kind, but nevertheless very cruel, very hard to endure, and as a creature to the message of the Lord is was Phariseism of the past.

From Phariseism the world is rapidly passing under the influence of Sadduceism—that is to say, a godless and godless unbelief, a skepticism as respects God, the Bible and all religious teachings. This is the extreme limit of atheism, but by the trained, scholarly, classical unbelief which has far more influence and is much more rapidly and thoroughly undermining Christian faith. As for Christian doctrine, many of them have long been sadly leavened, vitiated, rendered valueless; but the tendency is to abandon all faith and to trust preferably to the Higher Critics, who not only feel sure that they can disprove the authorship of the Old Testament Scriptures, but sure also that Jesus and the Apostles were deluded and in error, when they quoted from Isaiah, Jeremiah and all the Prophets.

The world is rapidly approaching the place where intelligent Protestants would prefer a theology manufactured expressly for the Twentieth Century thinker, while the theologians and Higher Critics of our day, as they have dropped the thought of inspiration by the Bible writers, have adopted a New Thought on the subject and claim that the wisdom of today is inspired by all the beautiful sentiments of the past, including those of Confucius, Jesus and Shakespeare.

Beware of the Doctrines.
Now in the Harvest of this Age we urge all of the Lord's people to "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees of our day," even as our Lord warned the people of God in the end of the Jewish Age, the prototype of ours. Let us not follow the Sadducee spirit of our day into Evolution theories, Higher Criticism, rejection of the inspiration of the Bible, and the acceptance of human philosophies, as instead of the Divine revelation. Neither let us go back to the Phariseism of the past, to boast of perfection and righteousness, because of outward observances of religious rites and ceremonies and holy days, with a form of godliness without its power in control of our lives. Let us neither condemn and persecute others, nor allow of his own kind of the Dark Ages, nor let us follow the Pharisee, the more refined form, of our own day—hypocritically affecting an outward holiness, which but evidences a bitterness of heart by anger, malice, envy, hatred, strife, evil-speaking—"Works of the flesh and of the devil."

What, then, should be our course, if we are to beware of these errors of the two extremes? We answer that the teachings and example of Jesus are before us as the only proper pattern:

(1) Honesty—willingness to admit that we are not perfect and that we cannot keep perfectly the Divine Law, which demands that "We shall love the Lord our God with all our mind, all our being, all our strength, and our neighbor as ourselves," thus honestly confessing our own inability to command ourselves to God as perfect and being much more pleasing in his sight than if we indulged in false boasts of actual perfection, righteousness. We might deceive a few of our fellow men, but certainly could not deceive the Lord, who, instead of favoring us, would repudiate us as unfit for the elect class which he is now choosing.

(2) Our honesty must be associated with humility, else it will still not profit us, for the Lord's favors are extended to those who are both honest of heart and humble of mind. We must be humble enough to confess our imperfections and to accept of the Lord's proffered grace, that the merit of Christ's sacrifice for Adam and his race may be applied individually to us. The Lord has made the gateway narrow and low, so that none but the honest and humble may enter the narrow way of this age, which leads to life eternal.

(3) While honesty and humility may bring us as far as justification by faith, something more is necessary before we can become members of the Body of Christ, the Church. The third step in the way which leads to glory, honor and immortality, and joint-heirship with the Redeemer in his Millennial Kingdom, is "grateful zeal." God's grace in providing a Redeemer for the world and in making us acquainted with that fact in advance and presenting to us justification and reconciliation through faith in the precious blood of Christ, should lead us to gratitude and thankfulness of such a kind as would make us zealous for the service of our God. As the Scriptures express it, "We love him, because he first loved us." Whoever has not this zealous gratitude for mercies received is not eligible to the High Calling, and will fail to respond to God's invitation to take the fourth step, which would induct him into the "little flock" of spirit-begotten ones now undergoing trials and disciplines in the School of Christ—chiselings and polishings designed to fit and prepare them for the Kingdom.

(4) The honest and humble and gratefully zealous are invited by the Lord in the words of the Apostle, "I beseech you, brethren, by the mercies of God (already expressed in your justification, etc.) that ye present your bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God, and your reasonable service." (Rom. 12:1.) Accepting the invitation, these become the recipients of God's special providential care, under his guarantee that "All things shall work together for good to them that love him (the zealous grateful), the called ones according to his purpose." To these is granted special nearness to the Lord and clearer light upon the Divine Word through the holy spirit. As it is written, "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit; for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God." (I Cor. 2:14, 10.) To this class our Lord's words are applicable, "Blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear." (Matt. 13:16.) The Apostle's words also apply to this class, namely, "All things are yours, for ye are Christ's and Christ is God's."—I Cor. 3:21, 23.

Go if these continue faithful along these same lines they will eventually inherit with their Lord exceedingly abundantly more than they could have asked or thought. But before that time it is necessary that they should be tested; that they should demonstrate that their presentation of their bodies living sacrifices to the Lord was not merely a formality, but was done in full sincerity. In permitting the trials to come to them their Lord and Head will not suffer them to be tempted above that they are able, but will with every temptation provide a way of escape. As St. Peter declares, "The trial of your faith is much more precious than that of gold." Hence we may be assured that our Lord, the Great Metallurgist, will not permit the fire of affliction to be so intense as to consume us, but merely sufficient to purge us of dross, to refine us. To endure these tests thoroughly requires not merely honesty and humility and grateful zeal, but faith and patience, and, above all, love for God and for the brethren and for all; yea, even our enemies. "The Lord your God hath promised you to you to see whether ye do love the Lord your God with all your heart."

The Parable of the Leaven.

One of our Lord's parables represents a woman who mixed leaven with the flour of the family baking, until the whole was leavened. Our Lord states this as a parable or picture of the Kingdom not of the Kingdom in its perfected and glorified condition beyond the veil in the First Resurrection, but a picture of the Kingdom in its embryonic or earthly condition. Leaven here has the same significance as elsewhere in the Scriptures. It represents sin, false doctrine, error. A woman in Scripture represents an ecclesiastical system, the church. The flour represents the Word of God's grace and Truth, which should constitute the nourishment for the "household of faith." The leaven represents the error and error which, during the Dark Ages, was commingled with the Truth until the whole was leavened—the doctrines set forth by the woman of the parable are as a whole, impure, thoroughly mixed with human traditions and error and rapidly leading on toward sourness and putrefaction. Nominal Christendom, estimated at 400,000,000, is in a ferment, because of this commingling of Truth and Error, and the whole batch is in danger of souring.

In the type of Leviticus two leavened loaves were taken and baked with yeast and by this process the leavening influences were arrested and those two loaves were presented to God. This represented two classes of the Church. One represented the "little flock," which will attain the prize of Bridehood. The other represented the Great Company, which will come up out of great tribulation and, failing to reach the Throne and receive the crown, will, nevertheless, be blessed and honored by the Father with a place before the Throne, their final victory being represented by their palm branches.—Rev. 7:3.

But what shall we say of the remainder of Christendom, aside from these two comparatively small and very select classes? Other Scriptures intimate that the great mass are rapidly approaching the souring stage of putrefaction. The spirit of selfishness is rapidly preparing nominal Christendom for general disintegration, in which the Scriptures declare, "Every man's shall be against his neighbor, and there will be no peace to him that goeth out, nor to him that cometh in."

This is the time of trouble which our Lord foretold would come in this Age and work the overthrow of Christendom in its end, its harvest time, just as a typical time of trouble came upon the Jewish nation in the end of its typical harvest time, and overthrow its polity—"There shall be a time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation."—Dan. 12:1.

"Purge Out the Old Leaven."

The Apostle, writing to the Church at Corinth (I Cor. 5:6-8), maintains the same view of leaven presented to us in the Law and by our Lord Jesus, that it represents sin, selfishness, error. He addresses the Church as unleavened, pure, cleansed through acceptance of Christ and the merits of his Sacrifice. He points out to them that a spirit of worldliness and selfishness was creeping in and that, unless expelled, the effect would be to leaven the entire mass, the very thing which subsequently occurred. He gives us a very definite hint as to some of the forms of evil which the leaven would represent: (1) Fornication; (2) A slackness along these lines on the part of many; (3) Malice; (4) Wickedness; (5) Covetousness; (6) Extortion; and (7) Idolatry.

And those of us who are now seeking separateness from the world and from false doctrines and practices, do well to accept the Apostle's admonition given in this connection, "Purge out, therefore, the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened." We are to keep the feast, not with the old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and Truth. Fornication, and everything allied to it, assuredly war against the spirit of the New Creature and are contrary to the profession of consecration to the Lord. Having turned away from sin, let us have no sympathy with any of the unfruitful works of darkness, by so walking in the light as to put away all malice—every unkind, unloving, sentiment or thought, including all evil surmisings, which surely lead on to the leavening of our hearts and the development of roots of bitterness, which, if persisted in, would ensnare many, and bring down from earth and evil surmisings and evil-speaking and other wickedness.

Let us also beware of the leaven of covetousness, as a part of the leaven of the worldly spirit. "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his servants, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is his. To do so would be to enslave in yourself a spirit out of accord with that which God would approve—a spirit of restlessness and dissatisfaction and unhappiness, which would proceed to more ungodliness. Faith in the love of God and in his providential care is part of the test which the Lord imposes, and the admission of covetousness in our hearts has a deadening influence on this faith, without which it would be impossible to please God.

Extortion is another element of this leaven of selfishness, of worldliness. Justice, as exemplified in the Golden Rule, should guide and control our thoughts, and, so doing, will control also our words and our acts, bring all these more and more under the domination of love, which delights in doing good, and not in injustice and extortion.

Idolatry is another element of this worldly leaven of selfishness, which was against us as New Creatures and, if entertained, would hinder our progress in the character development necessary to a place in the Kingdom. The idolatry practiced by the heathen is insignificant and unimportant in comparison with the idolatry of the more intelligent of our lands—the placing of husband and wife, houses, lands, children, and the idols of our hearts, and the conditions of our house and sacrifices. The man of God may not set his chief affection upon any earthly thing, but in everything first (chiefly) on the great prize, the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and self-sacrifice and character with God, and the conditions of his attainment of a share therein.

Let us put away, therefore, from our hearts and minds leaven of every kind, both doctrinal and practical, and let us be unleavened and sincere and true to our God, to our Covenant with him, and to the obligations which he has laid upon us.

SCHOOL OF SOCIALISTS

Workingmen's Chautauqua to Be Opened on a Big Farm.

THEY WILL LIVE IN TENTS.

Three Hundred Acres Near Peekskill, N. Y., Bought by Rev. A. F. Irvine. Planned as Place Where Vacations Can Be Spent in Hearing Lectures and Studying Nature.

Socialism will be the staple diet at the Chautauqua for workingmen which Rev. Alexander F. Irvine will open next summer on a 300 acre farm he recently purchased near Peekskill, N. Y. Mr. Irvine is labor secretary and also Sunday night preacher at the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension in New York city, of which the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant is rector. He is also one of the leading "scientific" Socialists in the "United States" and is not of the milder Christian Socialist Fellowship, so the Marxian philosophy and all the allied teachings will be delivered to those who go to the new Chautauqua.

Miss Lucy E. Smith transferred the property to him through her broker, John V. Alexander of Peekskill, and the preparations for the approaching season may begin at once. The land is on the road leading to the town immortalized as the birthplace of Chauncey M. Depew and is not far from Highland station, says the New York Herald. Its situation on the old Boston post road makes it readily accessible to the farmers, with whom the Socialists expect to commune in spirit.

There are a large house, several outbuildings, two brooks and many springs on the place. There are sixty acres of cleared land, some woods and a hill that has an elevation of 900 feet, from the summit of which one may get a good view of Mr. Irvine's happy valley. The frontage of the domain on the main road includes nearly half a mile of stone fences and picturesque hedges.

"Socialism will not be the only fare," said Mr. Irvine, speaking of the new project the other night. "The farm will be open for two months as a vacation resort for workingmen who can afford to get away for two weeks or so in the summer. There will be about twenty-five there next summer, and if the idea proves a success we shall have more the succeeding season. The idea is not only to give instruction in economics and in social theories, but also to teach something of science and philosophy."

"Mr. Keir Hardie expects to spend several weeks there, and several prominent Socialists from abroad besides him will deliver lectures. There will also be a botanist and a geologist, who will accompany the men on walks and point out to them the objects of natural interest. I have more kinds of rocks up there than on any similar patch of ground in the vicinity, and they are fitted just to suit the observing student of strata. There are also trout brooks for ichthyologists. During their stay most of the men will sleep and live generally in tents in the woods and fields."

Mr. Irvine said that ultimately there would be a hall built on the place.

LOVEMAKING BY RULE.

Chicago Man's Advice on Winning the Fair One.

Now we have lovemaking made not only easy, but certain. All one has to do is to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest "Cupid the Surgeon," a new book on the mysteries of the tender passion recently sent forth by Herman Lee Meaders of Chicago. It's all very simple. There are only four classes of women, he says—the concelled, the sentimental, the mercenary and the blase.

"Give fatty to the concelled woman," says the author, "promises of eternal fidelity to the sentimental one, precious gifts to the mercenary and sensational thrills to her who is tormented with ennui."

"If I were allowed to give but two words of advice, they would be 'patience' and 'perseverance'."

"The man who never parleys over a cab fare, who never scans the prices on a wine list or a menu and who hibernates when he's broke carries an infallible amulet against feminine criticism."

"Remember that in the final balance a woman is always a woman."

No Flirting at Glasgow University.

The senate of Glasgow university has issued an order that girl graduates are not to converse inside the cloisters with the students of the other sex. The girls much resent this action as encroaching upon their freedom. To enforce the order the senate has established a woman censor, whose appearance in the cloisters was the signal for a reception which was by no means effusive. The girls declare they themselves are quite capable guardians of their hearts and threaten to refuse to enter class rooms if such an indignity is persisted in.

No Dancing School Teachers For Enid.

The resignations of five teachers in the Enid (Okla.) public schools were requested by the school board the other day because the teachers attended and participated in the Elks' Thanksgiving ball this year. A few weeks ago the school board adopted a rule prohibiting teachers from dancing. The board's action incensed several of the pedagogues, who defy the authorities to remove them. Relying on their yearly contracts, the teachers declare they will not be ousted.

DR. BULL'S DEVOTION.

How a Duet of Eminent Surgeons Was Finished During His Illness.

Knowing early last spring that he was doomed and sharing that unhappy secret in calm stoicism with his wife, Dr. William T. Bull, the eminent New York surgeon, suddenly threw all the remaining energies of his health into making as nearly as possible a gift to Mrs. Bull which should survive their crucial months of his coming struggle with death and remain as an everlasting and especially personal token of his affection. A year previously he had given to Miss Enid Yandell an order for a bust of himself, but had not paid much attention to the progress of the work. Only two sittings for the artist had found a place in his busy life.

"I am going to give you something I believe you will be very glad to have," he said to Mrs. Bull last April. "Perhaps it will be my last gift."

Immediately he got into communication with Miss Yandell and took up sittings for her with the greatest energy, so that the dreaded disease, cancer, with which he knew he was afflicted, might not reach a stage to mark his personal appearance before the work was done. So often as it was possible for Miss Yandell to utilize the presence of her patron Dr. Bull was in her studio promptly and let other matters take secondary consideration for the time.

He won his main object, for the plastic bust was done, carrying a wonderful likeness, only a few days before the disease marked him visibly. He went to Newport for the summer, satisfied with the result and anxious to see the finished bronze of the portrait bust. This was not denied him, though Miss Yandell lost her mother last summer and, wholly orphaned, was compelled to seek some relief from work and recuperation of her strength in Edgartown, Mass., where she took a house during warm weather. Her interest was fully alive in the work for its own sake as well as because of the strange circumstances in which it was being hurried. In her seclusion she continued to labor upon the bust, and it has been cast at last. Those closest to its subject pronounce it remarkable in its fidelity of pose and expression to the original.

The bust of Dr. Bull is about thirty inches in height and shows the face resting upon the right hand as he sits apparently in deep thought, the surgeon's robe hanging loosely over his shoulders, suggesting the field of science in which he has found special display for his talents.

TWO "SOCIAL PARASITES."

Professor McNeil Considers Smart Set and Tramp Set Both Useless.

The smart set in large American cities and the tramp set are on the same level as far as personal worth and usefulness to society are concerned, according to Professor William H. McNeil of the University of Minnesota in a talk, the other day, at the literary club, University of Chicago.

"The term 'smart set' has a very repugnant sound in my ears," said Professor McNeil. "Pray tell me what good this species of humankind are to the world? The smart set and the tramp set—the latter you find in empty freight cars or in the alleys of your city—are both social parasites. The tramp, a starved and knocked about mortal, contributes nothing to human progress and edification. The other creature, the doll-headed, 'smart' society woman, is as useless as the despised tramp."

"The smart set has often been the fast set in our large cities. They have had marital troubles of all kinds. They have done nothing to relieve the suffering poor in their communities. They have lived like the pagans of ancient Rome."

"The poor tramp, with his natural dislike for work, would do precisely as his richer prototype, the smart set society woman, if he had wealth and power at his command."

WIDE PATH FOR RAILROADS.

Public Service Board's New Plan For Preventing Forest Fires.

As the railroad object strongly to the proposition to use oil as fuel on their Adirondack lines owing to the expense, the public service commission, Second district, which is investigating the subject of forest fires, is considering an alternative plan of cutting along the line of the railroads a wide dirt way in which sparks from the engines would fall, says an Albany dispatch. A new law would be necessary to permit the clearing of state forest lands along the roads.

The commission as a result of its investigation has learned that sparks from engine stacks are not the only railroad source of forest fires. The burning coals that drop from the ash pit of the engine, they have discovered, are often the direct cause. If coal is to be used in the future the commission will insist that something be done in addition to the widening of the right of way to minimize the danger from burning coals as well as from sparks.

Coming of Halley's Comet.

Astronomers figure that the famous Halley's comet, last seen in 1836, will again be visible to telescopes next fall and that it will approach the earth until April, 1910, being apparent to the naked eye for several months before that time.

Professors of Aviation Now.

It is proposed, according to a Berlin cable dispatch, to establish professorships of aviation at the Göttingen university in Germany and at several technical colleges.

The One Effective Substitute for Calomel

Everyone knows that calomel is one of the best of laxatives—we mean the best to produce bowel action and regulate the liver.

But calomel is injurious—its after effects are not only unpleasant, but in many cases dangerous. Doctors have sought for years to discover a substitute. It remained for Dr. Edwards to develop a substitute.

For 15 years, while practicing, he sought the desired compound for the sole benefit of his patients. He developed it to perfection and found it too good to confine to a few. So it is now placed within reach of all.

This compound is today in tablet form at all druggists. You get it by asking for Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. 15 tablets for 10c, 45 tablets for 25c; in packages. When you feel that you need a laxative—feel that the liver needs toning, try Olive Tablets. They act pleasantly. They taste good, being sugar-coated. They contain olive oil—a healer and a fine laxative.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

Take one at bed time. Note how good you feel in the morning.

Try them in place of headache medicine. You can take as many as you want without harm, yet one or two is sufficient and prompt. Buy a small package of your druggist today. Let them prove how much better they are than anything else of the kind that you know for the liver and bowels.

AMUSEMENTS

THE PRESS AGENT SAYS:

"The Time, The Place and The Girl," opens an engagement at the Auditorium theater tomorrow evening, and it is safe to assume that a record breaking audience should be on hand. The musical comedy is one of the brightest and wittiest ever placed on the American stage, with sparkling lines, logical comedy situations and music simply irresistible in its catchiness. A splendid company, headed by Arthur Dunn, will interpreter of a box, etc., make an amusing skill. Avery and Hart, two of the best and liveliest colored comedians will be on the bill, with the familiar "Pick 'em up"; Both Stone the topsy turvy toe dancer will present an elaborate act; Charles Bradshaw and company, in the hilarious sketch, "Fix in a Fix," will furnish material for laughter, the Three Lellicots in a clever musical act; Mullen and Correlli, comedy acrobats, and others well known in the vaudeville field are pret the leading roles, and it is promised that the chorus will be a revelation in grace, agility and talent.

"The Cow Puncher," which comes to the Auditorium theater next Saturday matinee and night, is claimed to be brimful of refined comedy situations, bearing out the fullest intentions of Mr. Ried, author of the piece. The story is rich in human interest, though not a story of blood and gun play; as many might suspect. The love story of the golden West is an extremely beautiful one, well told.

"Married for Money," or "The Old Wife and the New Wife," a new drama by Len B. Parker, had its second and third presentation on any stage in this city yesterday afternoon and last night at the Opera House. Those who had mistaken the play, through its rather flippant title for a cheap melodrama, made a grave error. "Married for Money" is a drama of modern times, containing many intense dramatic situations. It is a play of the order of "Paid in Full," and "Lion and the Mouse," but built along lines so that it can be produced at what are called the popular priced houses.—Brunswick. (N. J.) Times.

At the Auditorium Friday evening.

The popularity of vaudeville is on the increase, and the large audiences at Keith's Columbus theater constantly testify to the great hold this form of amusement has upon the public. The interurban service makes the visit of the out of town contingent, and many of the constant patrons of Keith's are those who live several miles from the theater, thinking little of the journey into the city. Everyone is treated with unfailing courtesy and especial attention is paid to the wants of the gentle sex and the many little ones who come to the matinees.

One of the biggest attractions in vaudeville today is Fred Karno's "Night in a London Music Hall," which is an English importation, and one worthy of attention. The miniature stage with its actors and actresses, the introduction of a recalcitrant among those who will entertain the public.

The two performances of December 24th are to be given under the auspices of the Diet Kitchen Association, the Keith management giving 25 percent of the gross receipts to this well known charity. Matinees daily.

AT THE ORPHIUM THEATER.
Seldom has there been a better balanced and more pleasing bill at the

The Toro troupe of Japanese jugglers and acrobats which is creating much favorable comment at the Orphium theater this week.

Orphium than that which opened on Monday, for the first three days of the week. The Brennon's, in a novel musical turn, open the show, and the two young men do not belie the title of musical novelists which they have adopted. The act is not a hodge-podge of cheap comedy, but a real musical treat, and the Brennon's were compelled to answer several encores at each performance.

Flora Brown and company, in a singing and dancing skit, next hold the boards, and that they were welcomed to the audience was fully attested by the unanimous applause with which they were received. Miss Browning is a very clever singer and made herself solid with the audience in the opening lines of her song. Her diamond heels were also a feature of her dance.

Senator Frank Bell in his monologue needs no praise as every Newark theater goer remembers him and no doubt his name on the program was the means of bringing many persons to see this old time favorite, and they were not disappointed, for his funny sayings kept his hearers in constant good humor.

The Toro troupe of Japanese introduced new and difficult feats, the chief attraction of which was the difficult feat of the female member of the troupe, who walked the ladder of razor-edged swords in her bare feet. This troupe introduced many puzzling feats of sleight of hand, the last of which was acknowledged by all who saw it to be the most intricate and mystifying ever seen on the Orphium stage.

Manager Moore returned to the stage last night and sang his illustrated song, "Good-bye My Caroline," much to the delight of his many admirers.

AT AUDITORIUM THEATER.

The vaudeville bill at the Auditorium pleased immensely Monday evening. The Dumont Novelty Trio have a very novel, clever and well dressed act, while the two boys of the trio are the cleverest dancers that have been seen here in a long time. Ed Swies in his musical act pleased very much. His act is not a new one, but a good one. The Bouviera have a very fair comedy sketch, a good deal of the slap stick variety, but the kind that pleases. This same program will be given this evening and Thursday matinee and night.

TRAVELING MANAGER HERE.

Col. Fred Hilton, traveling manager of the Sun Murray amusement enterprises is visiting in the city, the guest of his friend, Manager Harvey Moore of the Orphium theater. Col. Hilton has many warm friends in this city who are always pleased to meet the genial gentleman, who is always keeping his eyes open for something new and novel in the way of a good attraction. Speaking of Newark as a theatrical center, Mr. Hilton said: "Your beautiful city is one of the best on the circuit and is doing a nice business. The management is more than pleased with Manager Moore's efforts to 'boost' the business and is going to give him the best bookings that can be procured. He has proved to them that your city can appreciate good things and there are many more in store for Orphium patrons. We are aiming to secure nothing but the best of bookings and we believe that our patrons appreciate the fact. You will agree with me, no doubt, that your city is getting some high class acts that are seldom seen outside of the larger cities."

Anty Drudge Tells How to Avoid Sunday Soaking.

Mrs. Hurryup—"I always put my clothes to soak on Sunday night. Then I get an early start on Monday and get through washing by noon. I don't consider it breaking the Sabbath, for cleanliness is next to godliness, you know."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, but godliness comes first, my dear. And you should keep the Commandments. Get a cake of Fels-Naptha and you won't have to soak your clothes over night, and your washing will be all done by noon; without boiling, without hard work and with more satisfaction than any other way."

Rough, red hands are the trial of most housewives. "I don't mind the work if I could only keep my hands nice," sighs the young woman.

You will have less work and nice hands at the same time if you use Fels-Naptha soap in washing clothes. Hot water chaps the hands; hard-rubbing on the washboard swells the knuckles. Using Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, you have neither hot water, hard-rubbing nor nauseous steam. But Fels-Naptha must be used the Fels-Naptha way—no boiling.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL VERY BRIEF

President Pro Tem Kuster Presided—
Demand Made for Payment of Hydrant Rentals.

In the absence of President Rossel of the city council Monday night, member Kuster took the chair and succeeded in welding the scepter with all the gusto of an old-timer. Council proceedings occupied just 45 minutes.

A. M. Verrill made his formal demand on the city, through the council in last night's meeting, for the balance of the hydrant rental alleged to be due the Newark Water company. For the use of 288 hydrants the demand covered a total of $19,210. The matter was quickly disposed of by being placed in the hands of the law committee.

A total of $650 was transferred from various funds to the elections fund for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the present local option election.

The Board of Public Service reported with favor on the test well put down at the municipal water plant for the purpose of trying out the air pump system of obtaining naturally filtered water. The report was given in detail, showing the progress of the test from its beginning, November 30, to the completion of it on December 3. The well is an 8-inch opening and is reported to be pouring forth a good volume of water. A sample of the water has been submitted to the state health department but as yet no report has been received here.

The Board of Public Service also reported that it is desired to change the name of the alley in Nichols & Lind's addition, which was referred to the street committee, as was also the question of abandoning the alley between Church and Locust and Second and Third streets.

The street committee reported favorably to sidewalks on Church and Twelfth streets and also favored the removal of a large sycamore tree from in front of Mary Schlosser's residence. A walk on West Main street bridge and the construction of a walk on the north side of East Main street from Oakwood avenue to Madison were both favorably reported on.

Mayor Atheron's report for the month was received and filed. City fines, $31; licenses, $52.50; others, $20; officers' fees, $3; state cases, $43; officers, $22; fines, $50.

Mr. Irwin's ordinance providing for a sewer on North avenue to Ungar's addition, was passed on third reading.

A resolution was introduced by Mr. Orr providing that the city solicitor and the B. P. S. consider the acceptance of a part of DeCrow avenue, situated between the B. & O. railroad and Hancock street.

Mr. Kuster introduced a resolution calling for a walk of cement on the north side of Church street, and Mr. Fulton presented one providing for a walk on the west side of Twelfth street between Church and the alley north of it.

Meridith's Pre-Christmas Sale of Suits and Overcoats Draws Multitudes

We Have Touched a Popular Chord—The Response is Unanimous

Never before have you been able to secure such clothing for such prices, just when such garments were needed. The usual time for cut prices is when the need for goods is past—when the stores wish to unload. Owing to unforeseen circumstances we were late in getting in our new room and on account of the business depression generally, our heavy stocks did not move as rapidly as usual, hence we are giving low prices now to insure rapid clearance of our stock in the time we have set for such a clearance. Low prices are always acceptable, doubly so when they apply to Winter Suits and Overcoats, just when Winter Suits and Overcoats are in demand. A glance over our advertised prices will convince the most skeptical that we mean business—that we are in deadly earnest. A visit to our store will confirm every impression gained by reading our advertising.

GRANVILLE

Granville, Dec. 15.—There was a large attendance at the preliminary debate Monday evening for the State Inter-collegiate contest. Fifteen contestants took part in the debate, all of whom were anxious to get on one of the two teams to be selected. Calhoun literary was represented by eight aspirants and Franklin by seven. The subject under discussion was "The Guarantee Bank System," each of the participants talking for twelve minutes in favor of the affirmative side of the question. "Resolved, That the system of guaranteed bank deposits as advocated in the Democratic National platform, should be established in the United States. The two teams will be composed of the following men as a result of the preliminary: S. G. Bridges, E. W. Waybright, L. D. Sargent and G. B. Williams, alternate; W. R. Taylor, C. W. Kemper, C. L. Warner and K. F. Mather, alternate. Professors Johnson, Spencer and Coons were judges.

At a meeting of the faculty of Denison university held Monday afternoon it was decided that the Christmas vacation this year should begin Tuesday, December 22 at 12:30 o'clock, instead of one day later, as designated by the school calendar. DRY DIRECTORS IN ZANESVILLE

"Wets" Resign From Baseball Club in Pottery Town.

Baseball in Zanesville will be conducted by a white ribbon club next summer. Last season's directors were "wets." A new board of directors is made up of "drys." The change from "wets" to "drys" comes as a result of the recent local option election in which the anti-saloon people were victorious. The men who had been running the club were for the most part liquor dealers. They announced before the election that if the county and city went "dry" there would be no baseball next season. "Dry" fans replied that there would be baseball, and added that they would take charge of the club, which they did, and at the annual meeting the "wet" directors, 11 in number, quit. Eleven "dry" directors and officers are now in charge.

CURFEW ORDINANCE

Judge E. M. P. Brister has received the following letter from Mr. H. H. Prior, the well known railway mail service clerk of this city, congratulating him on the establishment of a curfew ordinance for Newark:
Judge E. M. P. Brister, Newark, O.
My Dear Sir:—Allow me to congratulate you on your curfew ordinance for the city of Newark. There never was an ordinance passed in any city that brought about so much good for you as a curfew ordinance, if properly enforced. Parents do not look after their boys and girls close enough, but allow them to roam in the streets and alleys after dark with whom they know not, getting into all kinds of mischief and finally into serious trouble and crime. A curfew ordinance, properly enforced, will prevent much or all of this. I have been in Indianapolis, Ind., much of my time in the last few years, both before and after the curfew ordinance went into effect, and can plainly see the difference. The children will be playing when the first whistle blows but when the second one blows you will see them all start for their homes. They have gotten used to it and respect the ordinance. All parents should see to it that their children obey the rules, which will only be for the good of the children and community.
Very respectfully, yours,
H. H. PRIOR.

RARE ANTIQUE FURNITURE FOUND IN REPAIR SHOP

Many Valuable and Beautiful Pieces Undergoing Repairs in East Newark Place of Business.

Many old pieces of furniture are owned in Newark, and the lover of the Colonial and of pieces of even greater antiquity would enjoy a visit to the repair shop of N. Anderson in the old Keller building on East Main street. Mr. Anderson has resided in Newark for the past ten years and has been in this country since 1879. He was born in Sweden and learned the trade of a cabinet maker.

His rooms are crowded with ancient pieces of furniture that have been brought to him for repairs, and in talking about them he displayed a great affection for the old pieces of furniture whose original owners have long since passed away. At present he is employed on repairing an old poplar chest owned by Mrs. Frank J. Maurath of the Jutiew apartments. The chest has four drawers and is of the finest Honduras mahogany. The chest of great antiquity, was brought to America from England a couple of centuries ago. Burned in the lid of the chest is the word "Killmajarö, 1691, Lng." testifying as to the great age of the old fashioned chest.

An old davenport, thought to be at least 120 years old, is owned by a Miss Kline of Dayton. It is of the finest San Domingo crotch mahogany and has been in the Kline family for many generations. Some scroll work has been broken off from the old "couch" and this is being replaced by Mr. Anderson. It is also being recovered with hutch, once very fashionable and again coming into favor.

Another piece of extreme age is a bureau owned by Mrs. W. N. Fulton. It is also made of mahogany and the handles to the drawers are enameled. At one time the enamel tracery must have been beautiful but now much of the paint has been scratched off. Enough remains however to show the skill that was used in placing it on the brass work.

Mr. Anderson himself is the possessor of an old iron safe that he values very highly, and in which he keeps his private papers. The chest is of iron while iron strips run entirely around it in every direction. Big rivets were used and the heads of these projecting give additional strength and protection to the "strong box." A big brass key is used in opening the lock, and a trick is required to unlock the door even though combinations were unknown when the chest was made. It is necessary to insert the key, and then pressing gently on it turn it slowly to the right. In turning it slowly it catches a tumbler and the door swings open.

Another dresser, bureau or chest, whatever you may choose to call it, is owned by a family on North Fourth street, and this bit of furniture is extremely rare. It is made of wild cherry inlaid with white holly wood. The knobs on the drawers are all made of glass, and in the opinion of Mr. Anderson it is over a century and a quarter old.

Many rare old chairs and stands that have seen scores of years pass are also awaiting repairs. A foot stool made of mahogany and beautifully carved by hand is now undergoing repairs. The work is tedious for good mahogany, crotch mahogany, is hard to obtain and it is all that can be used in repairing this kind of furniture, and great care is necessary in the handling of it.

The place is a veritable "old curiosity shop" and Mr. Anderson is a good entertainer, for he knows every piece and can tell of it in a very interesting manner.

rush is as great at the other end of the line—where ever you are sending your gift—it is the wise person who gets the present in the mails at an early date.

To aid the postal authorities, and to facilitate the delivery of your mail, be careful to see the letter or package is clearly and properly addressed. Its a good plan to write your own name and street number on one corner of the package, too, then if any mistake should occur it will be returned to you.

It is estimated that not one letter in a million goes astray or is lost in the mails, but while an unusual rush is on mistakes may happen. There are many towns with the same name and for that reason the address, especially that of the town and state, should be carefully written or printed. The street address or the rural route should also be given in full for frequently people of the same name get mail at one office.

A good many people have a bad habit of when they are writing to people in the same town in which they live, to simply put the name, address and "city" on the envelope, package or card. Frequently these letters are dropped in the letter box at a depot and are gathered up by the mail clerk who of course is unable to tell what "city" is meant when that letter is fished up out of a pile of mail.

TERWILLIGER

Still Confined in the Licking County Jail—Report That He is in Columbus Enroute.

The Columbus Dispatch, in flaring headlines, Monday night stated that Ernest Terwilliger, the wife murderer who had been adjudged insane by a jury selected to determine his sanity, had been taken to Columbus and placed in the State Hospital. The Dispatch went further. It printed the photographs of Terwilliger and his wife, and the readers of that paper were made to believe that the murderer was out of the care of Sheriff Redman. An Advocate reporter called on Sheriff Redman Tuesday morning and questioned him regarding the matter. Mr. Redman said that the report that Terwilliger had been taken to Columbus was not true. That he had given him his breakfast Tuesday morning and that he did not know how soon he would be taken to Columbus.

MEMBERSHIP

Will be Offered in Y. M. C. A. to the People from Different Section at Reduced Rates.

The Y. M. C. A. state committee and the local association have been flooded with inquiries and suggestions as to things that ought to be done. One of the things urged most earnestly has been the need of young men and boys in the smaller towns of the county for something akin to the Y. M. C. A. of Newark or to visiting privileges for men of the county when in Newark either on business or pleasure.

At a meeting of the trustees it was decided to offer a "County Membership" to men who would like it giving the privileges of the association building when in Newark at $2 a year. This membership would permit use of the reading, social and rest rooms on even terms with city members and baths when desired at ten cents or three for twenty-five cents. It would be possible, if a sufficient number of men were interested to organize groups of men at different centers who would try to do for boys and men of their own community some of the things done by the Y. M. C. A. in the

MISSING

SOCIETY GIRL FOUND WANDERING STREETS IN DEMENTED CONDITION.

Was Thrown From Pony Two Years Ago and Kicked in Head Which Unbalanced Her Mind.

San Francisco, Dec. 15.—With the arrest of Mrs. Adam McCormick yesterday for stabbing her husband last Monday a mystery that for two years past has shrouded the disappearance of Miss Ada Long, daughter of Jas. M. Long, wealthy manufacturer of this city, was cleared up, as the woman under arrest was Miss Long before her marriage to McCormick.

Two years ago Miss Long, while visiting an aunt residing in Denver, entered a polo match and during the excitement of the game was thrown from her saddle and kicked in the head by her pony.

Her mother brought her back to this city, when it was discovered that the blow on the head had unbalanced Miss Long's mind. This derangement became more and more apparent, until the family decided that the girl would be better off in a sanatorium. Miss Long opposed this plan so fiercely that she finally left home, vanishing completely from the circle of her friends and relatives.

After the attack on her husband the woman was found wandering in the streets in a demented condition, and was identified as the former Miss Long. The family will take care of the unfortunate daughter in the future.
